A STRANGE SUICIDE.
Takes Laudanum and Lays Down
On the Railroad Track.

James Preston Quick, a well known colored citizen of Smithville, was found dead on the Seaboard Railroad Tuesday morning about 8 o'clock by the section crew near Mr. Zack T. Pearson's Fruit Farm. During Monday evening he went to Mr. Pearson's store and purchased a bottle of Laudanum. He asked the clerk if there was directions on the bottle. The clerk replied that there was. Quick then asked how much would it take to kill a man. The clerk thought he was just joking. He then left the store about 8 o'clock and went off towards the Railroad. It was supposed that he drank the Laudanum and then lay down on the track with his head across the rail with his body parallel with the cross ties and fell asleep. He was struck by a passing train, which crushed the back part of his head. It is said that entanglement of his business affairs led him to this act. He was a clever, good farmer, running five plows, and he passed for a pious quiet citizen. He was about 34 years old and leaves a wife, mother, six brothers and five sisters.

FROM SMITHVILLE.

Mr. Editor.—As I have had no news I have kept quiet. There is but little to talk about. The farmers are preparing for another crop and hoping for ten cents cotton next fall.

My friend Mr. P. says he wants a few more rats as fur has gone up in price.

News is scarce. We expect some news soon and will write again. I don't want to keep before the public with nothing to say and then things will get lively.

PLANT PROTECTORS.

Get your plant protectors ready, for there will be little time to do so later on. T. Greiner gives designs and descriptions in Farm and Fireside for some useful homemade devices for protecting early plants from frost and cold winds and from bugs.

First is the simple box frame, a box without top or bottom, say a foot square and four to six inches high. A square piece of cloth or netting may be tacked over the top. A similar device is made of stiff paper, with a piece of cheesecloth sewed or pasted right over a square opening cut into the top, the sides being held down by pieces of wire bent in double pin shape. For another device a piece of netting may be tacked in two end boards, each end board being provided with a small sharpened stake (nailed on the outside), which when pushed into the ground will hold the end boards in place, with the cloth stretched tightly between them over the plants. Even a large piece of cloth or netting and a few sticks will do the business. We can take some pieces of willow twigs or other pliable wood and stick a couple of them crosswise into the ground in the form of a bow over the top of plants or a single plant and place the piece of cloth over this frame, holding the edges down by banking a little soil we may simply push one or more little sticks slanting into the ground and over the plant or plants and cover with netting, or the netting may be simply placed directly over the plants in loose folds. Cheesecloth may be considered preferable to ordinary mosquito netting. The latter is neither coarse and would not prove an effective barrier to thrips and other small insects that might do damage. All these devices are simple and perhaps as effective as any more elaborate or more costly ones.

An investigation of the Banks of Bennettsville shows that neither of them have lost a dollar on their loans or investments.

Farmers remember the meeting on the 27th.

Cleaning an Old Clock.

Have any of the readers of the National a clock they value that seems to be near the end of its career of usefulness? Does it skip and beat now and then and when it begins to strike seems to be in pain? Let me tell you what to do. Take a half of cotton batting the size of a hen's egg, dip it in kerosene and place it on the floor of the clock in the corner, shut the door of the clock and wait three or four days. Your clock will be like a new one—skip no more, it will strike as of old, and as you look inside you will find the cotton batting black with dust. The fumes of the oil loosen the particles of dust and they fall thus cleaning the clock. I have tried it with success.—National Magazine.

Because her stomach was so weakened by useless drugging that she could not eat, Mrs Mary H. Waters, of St. Clair, Cal., writes: "My stomach was so weak from useless drugs that I could not eat, and my nerves so wrecked that I could not sleep; and not before I was given up to die was I induced to try Electric Bitters with the wonderful result that improvement came and a complete cure followed. I feel better than I have for years." Guaranteed by J. C. Hendrix, druggist.

It entirely stopped the prick distention and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of these symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." Not the wealth of J. PIERPONT MORGAN or of JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, but several large fortunes have been spent in bringing to point of perfection and developing the product known as "BROMONIA."

The present company, after a long and tedious litigation, have acquired all right and title to the trade mark "BROMONIA," assets, good will &c.

In a comparatively short time Bromonia will be known everywhere, even to the remotest parts of the civilized world.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. The more statements of efficacy and so beneficial that it should be in the home of citizens in the civilized is not enough nowadays to convince the sceptical public, deluded as it has been in the past by the myriads of fakers and heartless charlatans, who have taken the public's money in exchange for dangerous, injurious and habit forming drugs. The inventor in these enlightened days want some evidence of sincerity on the part of the owner of a proprietary before investing money.

We propose to see that every civilized human adult who desires to try our remedy at our expense can do so without one cent of cost. We are capitalizing at Four Million of dollars, this amount being thought necessary in order to carry out our plan.

If you have consumption or some of the contagious forms of blood poisoning we cannot cure you. We don't pretend to cure you. You need the individual treatment of a skilled specialist; but if you are run down in general health, if you have dyspepsia, are subject to fainting spells, a victim to insomnia, biliousness, indigestion, liver trouble, catch cold easily, if your system is in that condition that you may become an easy prey to the disease germs of pneumonia, leprosy and the various epidemics, if you are bothered with constant headache, loss of memory, generally impaired vitality, we can help you, and if you follow our directions, render you immune against sickness. Most skin diseases can be cured by the use of BROMONIA.

"BROMONIA" is to the human system what the scrubbing brush and soap are to the dirty wash bowl. It cleanses the system, restores normal action. It increases the strength, the fighting ability of the phagocytes of the blood, it promotes the healthy flow of the salivary and gastric secretions. If your stomach is in good condition you are well. The Chinese say, "If your stomach is in good condition you are well. They accost each other with "How is your stomach?"

We don't ask you to invest a cent until you have tried "BROMONIA" at our expense. A single bottle of it, times works wonders. Cut out the Coupon at the bottom of this.

Write name and address plainly. Be careful to address

A Seething Retort.
An English lawyer who had been cross examining a witness for some time and who had scolded taxed the patience of the Judge, jury and every one in the court was finally asked by the court to conclude his cross examination. Before telling the witness to stand down he accosted him with this parting sarcasm:

"Ah, you're a clever fellow—a very clever fellow. We can all see that."

The witness leaned over from the box and quietly retorted:

"I would return the compliment if I were not on oath."—"Personalia."

Vulgar Admiration.
Mr. Muchash—What are you doing out there in the night air? Come into the house. Gladys—I was just admiring the moon, papa. Mr. Muchash—What business have you admiring the moon when there are so many things in the house that I have bought expressly for you to admire? Anybody can admire the moon.

Men and Dogs.
